Carlyle Gardens

RETIREMENT VILLAGE AT BARGARA

Name of village: Carlyle Gardens Retirement Village

Important information for the prospective resident

- The Village Comparison Document gives general information about the retirement village accommodation, facilities and services, including the general costs of moving into, living in and leaving the retirement village. This makes it easier for you to compare retirement villages.
- The Retirement Villages Act 1999 requires a retirement village scheme operator to:
 - provide a copy of the Village Comparison Document to a prospective resident of the retirement village within seven days of receiving a request
 - include a copy of the Village Comparison Document with any promotional material given to a person, other than through a general distribution (e.g. mail-out)
 - publish the Village Comparison Document on the village's website so that the document, or a link to it appears prominently on each page of the website that contains, or has a link to, marketing material for the village
- You can access a copy of this Village Comparison Document on the village website at <https://retireaustralia.com.au/communities/carlyle-gardens>
- All amounts in this document are GST-inclusive, unless stated otherwise where that is permitted by law.

Notice for prospective residents

Before you decide whether to live in a retirement village, you should:

- Seek independent legal advice about the retirement village contract – there are different types of contracts and they can be complex
- Find out the financial commitments involved – in particular, you should understand and consider ingoing costs, ongoing fees and charges (which can increase) and how much it will cost you when you leave the village permanently
- Consider any impacts to any pensions, rate subsidies and rebates you currently receive
- Consider what questions to ask the village manager before signing a contract
- Consider whether retirement village living provides the lifestyle that is right for you. Moving into a retirement village is very different to moving into a new house. It involves buying into a village with communal facilities where usually some of the costs of this lifestyle are deferred until you leave the village. These deferred costs when you leave your unit may be significant.
- Seek further information and advice to help with making a decision that is right for you. Some useful contacts are listed at the end of this document, including:
 - Queensland Retirement Village and Park Advice Service (QRVPAS) which provides free information and legal assistance for residents and prospective residents of retirement village. See www.caxton.org.au or phone 07 3214 6333.

- The Queensland Law Society which can provide a list of lawyers who practice retirement village law. See www.qls.com.au or phone: 1300 367 757.

More information

- If you decide to move into a retirement village, the operator will provide you with a Prospective Costs Document for your selected unit, a residence contract and other legal documents.
- By law, you must have a copy of the Village Comparison Document, the Prospective Costs Document, the village by-laws, your residence contract and all attachments to your residence contract for at least 21 days before you and the operator enter into the residence contract. This is to give you time to read these documents carefully and seek professional advice about your legal and financial interests. You have the right to waive the 21-day period if you get legal advice from a Queensland lawyer about your contract.

The information in this Village Comparison Document is correct as at 1 September 2026 and applies to prospective residents.

Some of the information in this document may not apply to existing residence contracts.

Part 14 – Exit entitlement or buyback of freehold units

An exit entitlement is the amount the operator may be required to pay the former resident under a residence contract after the right to reside is terminated and the former resident has left the unit.
14.1 How is the exit entitlement which the operator will pay the resident worked out?	The resident receives a repayment of their ingoing contribution. At this time the money owed by the resident to the operator is set off against this repayment. The exit entitlement is therefore calculated as follows: • repayment of ingoing contribution less • if the contract is a Postpaid contract, the Exit Fee (see Part 11, item 11.1) less • the cost of the Reinstatement Work (see Part 12) less • legal costs and registration costs (see Part 11, item 11.2) less

- any other costs (for example, outstanding general services charges) the resident is liable to pay under the residence contract.

If the contract is a Prepaid contract:

- the Prepaid Fee is non-refundable;
- if the contract ends and the resident provides vacant possession of the unit within 3 years of the occupation date, the resident will receive a partial refund of the Prepaid Fee that has not yet accrued. The Prepaid Fee accrues to the operator progressively over three years from the Occupation Date at the following rates:

Year	Portion of Prepaid Fee accrued to operator over the full year
Year 1 – from the Occupation Date to (but excluding) the first anniversary of the Occupation Date	35% of the Prepaid Fee
Year 2 – from the first anniversary of the Occupation Date to (but excluding) the second anniversary of the Occupation Date	35% of the Prepaid Fee
Year 3 – from the second anniversary of the Occupation Date to (but excluding) the third anniversary of the Occupation Date	30% of the Prepaid Fee

Within each year, the relevant portion accrues to the operator on a daily basis. If the Vacant Possession Date is part-way through a year, the operator retains the proportion of that year's portion (as shown in column 2 in the table above) corresponding to the number of days the resident occupied the unit in that year (including the Vacant Possession Date), divided by the total number of days in that year. The operator also retains the full portion for each earlier completed year.

Following are worked examples of how the refund of the Prepaid Fee is calculated:

- Assume the Prepaid Fee is $180,000 and the Occupation Date is 1 March 2027.
- If the Vacant Possession Date is on the last day of Year 1, the operator retains 35% of $180,000, being $63,000. The resident receives a refund of $117,000.
- If the Vacant Possession Date is on the date that is 18 months after the Occupation Date (184 days into Year 2), we retain $94,726 calculated as:
 - 35% of $180,000 for Year 1, plus
 - 35% of $180,000 x 184/365 days, being $31,726.03.

The resident receives a refund of $85,274.

	- If the Vacant Possession Date is on the last day of Year 2, the operator retains $126,000, being 35% of $180,000 for Year 1 plus 35% of $180,000 for Year 2. The resident receives a refund of $54,000. - If the Vacant Possession Date is after Year 3, the resident does not receive a refund of any of the Prepaid Fee. Capitalised terms used in this section have the same meaning as in the contract. Please contact the operator for more information. If the contract is a Refundable contract, the Establishment Fee paid on entry is non-refundable.

14.2 When is the exit entitlement payable?	By law, the operator must pay the exit entitlement to a former resident on or before the earliest of the following days: - the day stated in the residence contract ➤ which is 18 months after the termination of the residence contract 14 days after the settlement of the sale of the right to reside in the unit to the next resident or the operator 18 months after the termination date of the resident's right to reside under the residence contract, even if the unit has not been resold, unless the operator has been granted an extension for payment by the Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal (QCAT). In addition, an operator is entitled to see probate or letters of administration before paying the exit entitlement of a former resident who has died.
